

CURRICULUM

Master of Arts in Expressive Arts Conflict Transformation & Peacebuilding

Being with the Arts is our Way of Being in the World.

Concentrate on the use of creative methods through the Arts to address conflicts within teams, communities, and across cultures. Get frameworks for merging the Arts with conflict analysis interventions, trauma awareness and healing, humanitarian responses, and research. Learn ways to use the Arts for peace and co-existence.

Plan of Studies

Students will spend three summers in residence in Saas-Fee, Switzerland. During the first two summer residency periods, they will follow courses on the Principles and Practice of both Expressive Arts (EXA) and Conflict Transformation and Peacebuilding (CT). They will be taught by faculty members who are active practitioners in the combined disciplines. Within each course, students will be challenged to experiment with the application of the Arts in Conflict Transformation and Peacebuilding paradigms, along with group discussions and reflective exercises. In between the summer residencies, EXA-CT students will be expected to complete self-study plan, an internship, and a Masters Thesis supervised by an EXA-CT faculty member.
