UPDATE April 5, 2022 - Information Summer School 2022

We are pleased to announce to you that EGS Summer School 2022 takes place in Saas Fee, the Pearl of the Alps. We will breathe fresh air, and sensitize our ecological awareness in this breathtaking, car free place. And - as citizens of humanity - we are shaken by various crises. How can we build on an art based ground connectivity, hope, and trust with a mindful and ecological attitude? The expressive arts will support us to strengthen body and mind and to gain new perspectives. The studies in the field of expressive arts provide a chance to practice humanness in an intercultural diverse context, and to move beyond polarization. We may learn from 'mistakes', yet even more so do we want to strengthen resources and anchor what works. The summer school offers different unique learning frames, such as community art, nature based expressive arts, poetry as an act of peace, ecological considerations and expressive arts, arts festival, performance night, lectures and panels on climate change and expressive arts, core group and subject courses.

Registration is now open! Please note that the deadline to register is April 30, 2022.

Your studies are guaranteed. The Hybrid – for this year only:

We are aware that we are still and again in a fragile place, despite the fact that the pandemic is more controlled. We therefore offer exclusively for this summer 2022 hybrid summer school studies. This inclusive frame of study is our humble contribution to the various crises situation we are facing globally for students who are prevented to travel to Switzerland. A hybrid EGS summer school consists of recorded sessions and participation by zoom.

To register:

Please send the EGS office (administration@egs.edu) a request, together with your registration for summer school, that explains why you qualify for the hybrid learning and to participate instead by zoom instead of in-person. Financial Aid applies also on a first come first served base, however not for the work studies who need to be present in Saas-Fee.
